Theme

When the Crusader of A.D. 1200 marched off to the Holy Land, the thoughts which occupied his mind were primarily of championing the cause of Christ. The red cross, worn on the chest and painted on the shield, gave testimony to this. Draped around the neck and across the shoulders of the Crusader of today, the Scapular of Our Lady attests a similar dedication.

When a man was about to depart on the Crusades, he prayed throughout the previous night, in expectation of that honor. Our vigil to the honor of receiving the diploma is prayer and study for four short years—years which pass all too quickly.

To the similarities between the Crusader of today and the Crusader of 700 years ago, we respectfully direct the theme of this, El Conquistador of 1957.

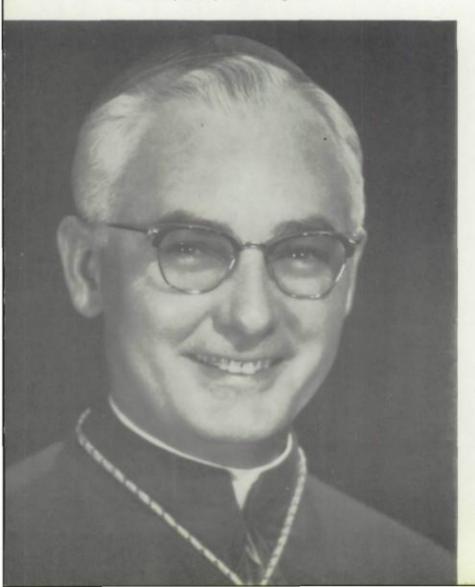

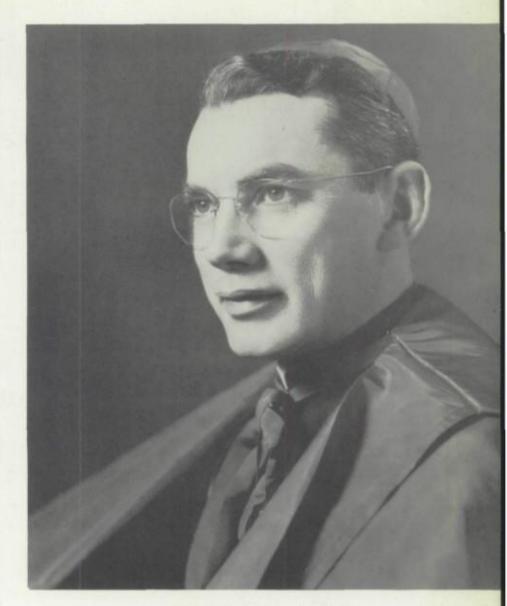

Hierarchy

Since the establishment of Mount Carmel, the aid that these men have given has been indispensable. In recognition and appreciation of this fact, we sincerely thank them.

Bishop Timothy Manning, D.D. Auxiliary Bishop of Los Angeles

Monsignor Patrick J. Dignan, Ph.D. Superintendent of Schools Archdiocese of Los Angeles

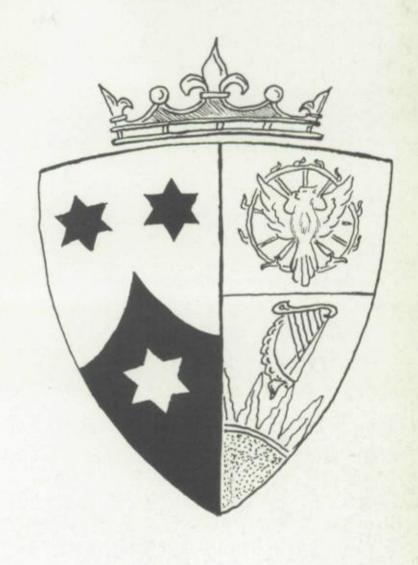

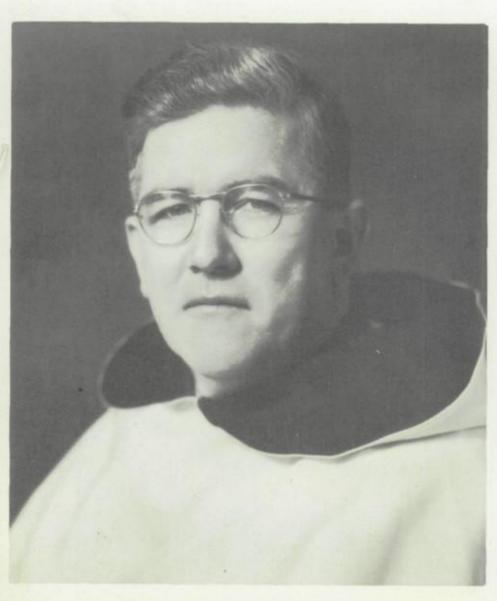

Carmelite Superiors

"Study, my son, to fulfill another man's will rather than your own. Choose always to have little worldly riches than much. Seek, also the lowest place, and desire to be under others rather than above them; desire always and pray that the will of God be wholly done in you. Lo, such a person enters surely into the very true way of peace and inward quiet."*

Truly peaceful and inwardly quiet, these men humbled themselves, and were exalted. They asked for little and received much, and the will of God is daily being done in them.

Pedication

El Conquistador of 1957 is dedicated to a very gracious man whose work at Carmel has been exceedingly successful in every way. This success is marked not only with amazing material achievements, but also with the results of stirring those with whom he has worked to higher plains. His reputation has spread throughout the Southland, and he is respected and imitated by all who have come in contact with him. We present this annual to you, "Marty" Martinelli, and we hope that you will accept our hearts and our prayers with it.

Mt. Carmel High School

7011 SOUTH HOOVER STREET LOS ANGELES 44, CALIFORNIA PHONE PLEASANT 3-1533

May, 1957

My dear Seniors,

As your final year at Mount Carmel is almost over, your faculty and your fellow students offer you their congratulations on the occasion of your graduation.

This last year of yours at Mount Carmel has been a very memorable one. At no time in its history has the school enjoyed so much success. In studies, in debating and public speaking, in football, in basketball and in all other athletics and activities, you have been excellently represented. With reason you have been proud of your school for you have played a major part in its life. By your participation and by your loyalty and support you have helped to make that life a healthy one. For this we thank you.

The future, whatever it may mean for you, will be competitive. But you have liked competition. You have enjoyed it and you have been best when it was keenest. We hope that this spirit will show itself in the lives you lead after Carmel — that they will be truly Catholic and truly holy.

May the grace of God always be with you and may our Lady of Mount Carmel always protect you.

Yours sincerely.

Englis melallen, o. Can.

Dear Faculty and Students:

As our final days at Carmel pass by, we realize that another successful school year is almost over. Members of our Senior Class have contributed much to that success — in the scholastic, athletic, and social activities — and are thereby to be congratulated. They had the responsibility of leadership, and their actions did much to determine the attitude and spirit of the entire Student Body.

The Juniors and Sophomores are beginning to appreciate their heritage as students of Mount Carmel High School. As upperclassmen, they will be recognized as men of Carmel. Then theirs will be the responsibility of helping others towards that full maturity which is the goal of education.

The Freshman Class of 1957 has been particularly enthusiastic in accepting its part in the life of the school. What better example can be used than their wholehearted support of the Mount Carmel festivals! May this spirit exemplify their attitude throughout their years at Carmel.

To the Faculty, our sincere gratitude for the dedication of their lives to one of the noblest of callings — the education of youth. Many times we have failed to show adequate appreciation, but as we grow older we will fully understand and acknowledge their contribution to our development.

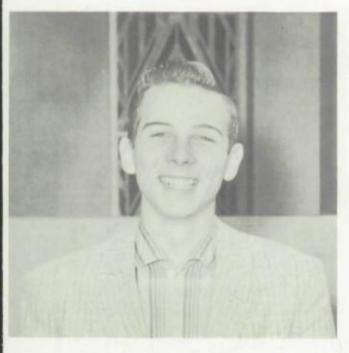

As President of the Student Body, I wish to thank the members of the Faculty, the Student Body Officers, the Student Body, and the parents and friends of Carmel for all that they have done to make this an outstanding year in Carmel's history. May we, under the Mantle of Mary, always live up to the principles of life that the Carmelite Fathers and Brothers have attempted to foster in us. When wearing Mary's Scapular, no matter where we are or what we are doing, we will be assured of being true Carmelites.

Sincerely in Our Lady of Mount Carmel,

Student Body President

Class of '58

All the established traditions of Carmel are dependent upon this class, determined to graduate in 1958. In addition to continuing the numerous familiar customs, these Crusaders have the additional responsibility of contributing something new, some innovation which will reflect on the class as a unit, and preserve it in the minds of future classes. Their training is nearly complete, and, most assruedly, they will continue the devotion to Our Lady which is so characteristic of Mt. Carmel.

Class

The class of 1959 has shown its abilties in both scholastic and athletic competition. Judging by this year's showing, it will, without a doubt, bring its share of merit and praise to Mount Carmel.

Under the leadership of their elected officers, they have proven themselves worthy to uphold the confidence that has been placed in previous classes.

Al Prukop Chairman

Student Body officers are automatically members of the Rally Committee. As such, they must haggle for more and better rallies, and cooperate with the Lettermen's Club in conducting and improving these assemblies. They must also exert themselves physically, setting the gym up for all general meetings of the students, and cleaning it afterwards.

Harsity Football

If there is any person who can point to his record with pride, that person is Mr. Jim Williams. In his three years at Carmel he has won the league championship in football twice, the Junior Varsity championship in basketball once, and his track team took third in the C.I.F. in 1956. His personality permeates all his undertakings, and he has a strange knack for bringing out the best in any boy who comes to him for assistance.

Mr. B. J. Andorka Line Coach

Mr. Jim Williams Head Coach

Mr. Andorka is just possibly the best line coach that Carmel has ever had. Two good proofs of this are the lines that he has turned out in the past two years. But his work does not end with the pounding of shoulder-pads. He has worked, incessantly, to improve student body spirit through songs he has composed, skits he has contrived and numerous other simple but effective devices.

With a display of its defensive power, holding within the ten yard line a total of six times, Carmel started its march towards the top of the league standings by defeating a tough Notre Dame team, 12-6. The first half was optimistic for Knight rooters, as N.D. took the lead and held it. It was not until late in the third quarter that Floyd Cox went over right tackle for forty-five yards and a tie game. Jim Brown tallied next, to put the Crusaders in front to stay. With this win, Carmel began an undefeated league season, and undisputed first place.

Starting the season by meeting the two strongest teams in Catholic League competition, Carmel was barely able to slip past an inspired St. Anthony's team. Again, the Brown Clads were behind at half time, and only tied the game early in the fourth quarter. A stalemate seemed to be in order as Carmel was stopped on the one-yard line and the Saints took possession. But defensive end Joe Fashing stopped Allan Roman in the end zone on the next play, and the gun went off with St. Anthony on the short end of an 8-6 score.

The third victim to run afoul of the Crusader executioners, Cathedral, was blanked, 26-0, in a fog-bound contest. It was in this game that Carmel first displayed superior offensive power, and, with some fine defensive play augmenting the other half of the game, the Carmelites romped to the first convincing win of the season.

The Kill!

I got 'im, I got 'im!!

A much-heralded Serra ball club was next in line, but their press clippings produced no visible effect on the spirit of the Crusader squad. On the second play from scrimmage, halfback Harry Franklin scampered 60 yards to the Serra two, and on the next play the first of five touchdowns was scored in shutting out the Cavaliers 33-0. The Gardena Gamblers could not get a drive formulated, plays that had clicked the week before gained nothing, and their claim to "class" had to be abandoned. Came the final gun, there was no doubt as to where the class lay, and the Crusaders had made it four straight.

Adding Cantwell to the impressive string of victories proved an easy task for the Crusaders. Carmel took the lead early in the first quarter, when Bill Watson intercepted Cantwell's initial pass and took it thirty-five yards to goal dust. The next Carmel score came on a fifty yard pass from Al Prukop to Harry Franklin. In the next three quarters Mount Carmel rolled up an insurmountable 39-0 lead before the Cardinals were able to score. This came late in the fourth quarter, when Cantwell bulled through a tired Crusader defense. Final score: 39-14.

Loyola, one of the weaker teams in the league, lived up to its reputation, as Carmel rolled over them, 20-12. It might appear, at first glance, that the word "rolled" is an exaggeration, but this relatively low score does not half tell the story. 183 yards in penalties is an immense number in any man's book.

TWIN PRIZE FOR FOOTBALL

Colleges seek schoolboy brothers

Although no college scouts can tell them apart, the pair of rugged-looking schoolboy players above are widely recognized as the biggest football bargain on the West Coast. Sixteen-yearold Mike and Marlin McKeever, identical twins and 230-pound tackles at Mt. Carmel High in Los Angeles, are being intently wooed by a dozen universities hoping to make a prize double catch. The twins, who graduate next June, want to go through college together and later play on the same pro football team.

Mike and Marlin are so similar in appearance, ability and aggressiveness, their own father often confuses them. They are co-captains of the league championship football team and co-sports editors of the school yearbook. Mike is president of the senior class; Marlin is secretary of the student body. They are both high B students, Their coach, Jim Williams, says it is impossible to choose between them in football. "They are the best high school linemen I've seen. I wouldn't dare let them scrimmage against each other. It would be murder."

Not to be outdone by the Varsity, the J.V.'s also stormed through an undefeated season, bringing home some plate of their own. They were undoubtedly the strongest team, and entirely deserving of their crown, as they went through to the fifth game before any team scored on them.

This team is one more addition to the greatest year that Carmel has experienced, and proof of the fact that Our Lady of Mount Carmel will smile on dedicated boys if they do not let her down.

Once again the Basketball team displayed its traditional strength on the court. It was not long before they were recognized as a leader of high school activity. Living up to their high ratings, they finished a strong second in the C.I.F., and boasted a record of thirty wins against two losses. But Carmel won many more friends in defeat than she could have in winning, not only because of the fine team, but also the excellent sportsmanship displayed.

Coaches

Fr. Augustine Carter, Athletic Director

The work of a coach does not begin at eight and end at four, but is carried on into every waking moment of his life. In order to bring respect to his team and the school, he expends his time and effort in order to realize a dream that his team will be the very best. When a coach has made a success of a team and has guided it to the top, he truly has something to be proud of. And so it is that these men, who, by guiding their teams on to victory, have earned a place in the memory of each and every one of us as personifications of modest yet powerful men.

Cheerleaders

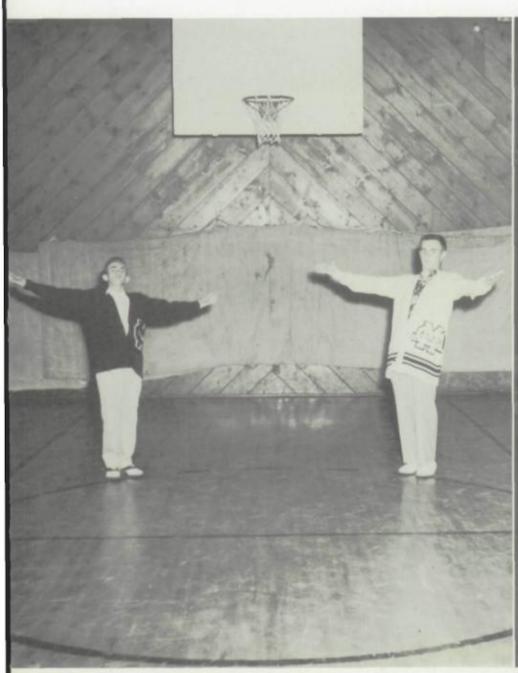

The spirit of the Carmel Student Body is inseparably connected with our domination of every major sport.

No matter the size of the crowd, it is the coordinated direction of the cheerleaders that is important. With this thought in mind, it is to these men of inexhaustable enthusiasm that we owe a great deal of credit for our athletic successes.

The respect that Carmel enjoys in every circle is due largely to the efforts and innovations of these elected officers.

staff, the final deadline was met and the staff can certainly point with pride to this, the 1957 El Conquistador. The staff had one idea in mind while compiling your yearbook, namely, to give to you a complete spectrum of the year's activities through the mediums of words and pictures. However this book is not intended to be a reminder of an end, but rather a portrayal of a beginning—the beginning of a new life for the graduating seniors and the realization of a promising future for those students who will remain at Mount Carmel after this year.

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my sincere gratitude to Brother Francis, our moderator, whose watchful guidance and helpful criticism have most certainly been appreciated. To the entire staff, I am most grateful for tedious hours spent on working dummies, copy, photos, and art work. I am sure that the memories of working together will far out-weigh the moments of bad times or discouragement. This letter could not be complete without a word of thanks to the faculty, the patrons, and the students, for whose lasting memories this book is presented. Special words of appreciation go to Bill Christy, and Christy-Shepherd Photographers, for their truly wonderful assistance and superior craftsmanship.

The 1957 El Conquistador staff sincerely hopes that this yearbook will bring many hours of pensive reflection. We have attempted to represent all of the activities of the year by comparing the Crusaders of Mount Carmel with the Crusaders of yesteryear who likewise defended Our Lady and her Church. May Our Lady watch over you and bless you.
